Even if you can't see it, and even if the world doesn't know your name, you are beginning to live a legendary life. If you are not already wealthy, you are headed in a good direction. Going forward, look for evidence that the wealth you enjoy is directly related to the amount you need to accomplish the next step for your life's mission.

Possible Blind Spots - Those who are motivated by keeping the peace may be inclined to too much passivity in relationships, or to being unnecessarily accommodating. If you choose to be accommodating, do it from a stance of choice and willingness, rather than a stance of resignation. One area where you may discover something new and uncharted is in checking your motive in your relationships with others. You may discover that there is an even greater feeling yet to be discovered than the freedom you've gained from putting up protective walls, or even the joy of service you've come to know. Because you've come this far having grown so much, individuals at this stage of development may struggle with being teachable. Sometimes our greatest moments of clarity, satisfaction, and empowerment come through responding in uncommon ways to life's greatest trials.

One who grows beyond the Exemplar/Sage stage of development will attest to the following:

"The greatest sacrifice is when you sacrifice your own happiness for the sake of someone else." - Unknown.

"Pain is inevitable; suffering is optional." - Haruki Murakami
